

EatResponsible - Privacy Policy

EatResponsible is committed to defend the privacy of our clients and website visitors. This policy sets out how EatResponsible treats personal information.

Article 1 - Security of your personal data

We take all feasible precautions to prevent loss or misuse of your personal information.

Article 2 – which information is collected and how this information is used

Regarding clients

When a company decides to become our client, the company is requested to share information with EatResponsible. This information to be shared is about specific characteristics of the company operations.

This information is used by EatResponsible exclusively to provide the services required (e.g. Sustainability assessment). The services and outcome of the research is shared with the client only. Only when a client's consent is received, the outcome of the assessment may be shared on our website and guide.

Regarding website visitors

We may collect and store the following personal data:

- information about your computer, website visits, use of the EatResponsible website. This information covers geographical location, browser type, length of the visit;
- information that you provide to us (messages or email notifications);
- any other information that you choose to send to us.

Personal data submitted on this website will be used for the purposes specified in this privacy policy only. We may use your personal information to enable your use of the services available on the website and send you emails you request. We can also handle questions and complaints you may have.

We will not provide your personal information to any third parties without your express consent.

Article 3 - Cookies

A cookie is a piece of information sent by a web server to a web browser. This is then stored by the browser and sent to the server when a browser requests a web-page. This occurs to allow a server to identify a browser. We may use the cookies to keep track of you while navigating our website.

Article 4 - International data transfers

Information we collect may be stored and transferred to the countries where we operate. This is only to enable us to use the information in accordance with this privacy policy. Countries where we may operate have data protection laws equivalent to those in force in the European Economic Areas (EEA).

Article 5 – Policy and Information updates

We may update this privacy policy by posting a new version on our website. You should check this page occasionally to ensure the changes are in line with your requirements.

In case we have collected information about your company that has changed, please let us know about the necessary corrections we have to apply.

Article 6 - Your information

You may instruct us to provide the personal information we keep about you. Delivery of this information may be subject to a fee payment (currently fixed at EUR 10.00).

Article 7 - Third party websites

EatResponsible website may contain links to contents to other websites. We are not responsible for the privacy practices of third parties.
